Profile

Adelaide Abrafi Osei is a seasoned sales and marketing professional with over 18 years of experience spanning the logistics, insurance, and technology sectors. She currently serves as a Senior Sales Executive at Maersk Ghana Ltd., a leading multinational Shipping and Logistics Company, where she plays a key role in driving commercial growth, managing strategic accounts, and delivering tailored supply chain solutions.

She holds an Executive MBA in Marketing from the University of Ghana, Legon, and a Bachelor of Science degree in Computer Science from the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology (RMIT), Australia, a unique combination that blends business acumen with technical insight.

Adelaide is a committed Christian who finds joy in deepening her understanding of the things of God, which shapes her values, integrity, and approach to both life and work.

Outside of her professional life, Adelaide enjoys reading and shopping.

If she could possess one superpower, it would be the ability to make everyone's thoughts transparent, fostering greater understanding, honesty, and alignment in both personal and professional relationships.
